A: Android Package Kit (APK briefly) is a package file format used by the Android operating system for the distribution and installation of mobile applications. Just as Windows (PC) systems use .exe file to install software, Android does the same. Q: Why CloudApks.com guarantee apk 100% safe? A: When someone wants to download an APK file from CloudApks.com, we will check the corresponding APK file on Google Play and allow the user to download it directly (of course we will save it on our server). If the APK file is not available on Google Play, we'll search for it in your cache. Q: If you install apk from CloudApks.com, will I be able to update the app from the Play Store? A: Yes, absolutely. The Play Store installs APK that downloads from Google's servers, and side charging from a site such as CloudApks.com takes place in a very similar process, except that you're downloading and initiating the installation (side charging). As soon as the Play Store finds a newer version of the app than it's loaded sideways, it will start upgrading. Q: What are Android app permissions? A: Apps require access to certain systems on your device. When you install an application, you are notified of all the permissions required to start that application.
